

David Mullings, B.S. '00, M.B.A. '03

Chairman and Chief Executive Officer
Blue Mahoe Holdings, Inc.

David Mullings is chairman and CEO of Blue Mahoe Holdings, Inc., a private investment firm focused on affordable housing and asset management with a strong Caribbean focus. As an entrepreneur, he credits his tenacity, competitiveness, and drive to the discipline of his early roots in Jamaica.

Mullings currently serves on the University of Miami Alumni Board of Directors and the Latin America and the Caribbean Initiatives Advisory Board for the Miami Herbert Business School. He also serves on the advisory board for the Caribbean School of Data based at the Mona School of Business at the University of the West Indies in Kingston, Jamaica. He is a director of Sprint Financial Services Ltd. in Jamaica, in which Blue Mahoe owns a minority stake; sits on the advisory board of MapEx, one of the largest exporters of farming and industrial equipment to the Caribbean; serves on the board of directors for the Institute of Caribbean Studies in Washington, D.C.; and was the first Future Leaders representative for the U.S. on the Jamaica Diaspora Advisory Board.

A double 'Cane, Mullings earned his first degree from the U at age 19. He and his wife Kathryn have three children, Luke, Liam, and Lyla. Mullings' father, Anthony Mullings, and his brother, Robert Mullings, also graduated from the U.